

The winds of March are missing, the rains are not so fast, and here the month is waning and March is nearly past. Which means that little April will probably be wet, and maybe bring the windy days that March seems to forget. But March or April weather will only last so long and May is round the corner and May is never wrong. A simple lass and lovely and for her we will wait, while the days are wet and dreary, this week in 1922.

Federal School Lunch Program Fund Projected

By ERWIN D. STAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, March 21—(INS)—The economy-minded house appropriations committee clashed $93,520,000 from the 1944-45 agriculture supply bill today, including rejection of a 50 million dollar budget bureau request for a federal school lunch program.

Total amount recommended in the bill, including $535,244,192 in direct appropriations, was $567,995,799, or $402,928,980 under the 1944 amount and $93,520,737 below the budget proposal.

The committee knocked out completely budget bureau requests for 28½ million dollars in direct appropriations and an authorization of 97½ million dollars of Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds for loans, grants and rural rehabilitation under the Farm Security Administration.

It likewise refused a budget request of $5,997,000 for administration of the federal crop insurance act, recommending instead $100,000 to complete its liquidation in 1945.

Commenting on the school lunch program, the committee held that "since this program is not authorized by law, the committee has excluded from the bill any appropriation therefor."

On the other hand, it gave the green light to the Rural Electrification administration, approving budget estimates of $2,350,000 for expenses and 20 million dollars for REA loans.

Sgt. James E. Flynn Missing In Austria

Word Received By Parents That Edison Avenue Airman Is On Casualty List

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. James J. Flynn, of 8 East Edison avenue, stating that their son, Staff Sgt. James E. Flynn, aged 21 years, has been reported missing in action over Austria since February 23.

Sgt. Flynn was radio man and gunner on a Liberator bomber. He was inducted into the service October 17, 1942, and has been in action, flying from a base in Italy since the first of December, 1943. He will be 22 years of age May 12.

Shaving is an extremely old custom. The ancient Egyptians usually shaved, unless they were in mourning. Alexander the Great, while in Greece, ordered his soldiers to shave off their beards, which would prevent their enemies from seizing them. The custom was adopted by Rome about the same time.

Every day the U.S.A. supplies 50 million gallons of gasoline and oil to the armed forces.

REPORT FIRST SECTION OF LEDO ROAD READY

Chungking. The building of the Ledo road was one of the methods determined upon to supply a solution to this problem.

From the beginning, the Ledo road has been an American project. Its advantage lies in the fact that its course follows the shortest possible route from a secure base in India to China's Burma road at a point well above the area in which it is possible for Japanese troops to interfere.

Most Difficult

First stretch of the road, and probably the most difficult ran from the town of Ledo, terminus of a British-Indian railroad line from Calcutta, across the Naga hills to Hukawng valley in northern Burma, a stretch of about 100 miles.

The Japanese army has made some effort at occupying Hukawng valley, but as this territory lies nearly 1,000 miles from the principal Japanese base at Rangoon, it has not been possible for them to maintain large or well supplied forces. If an adequate road could be built from Ledo, reason the United Nations high command, it should be difficult for American-British-Chinese units to drive their Japanese antagonists far to the south and guard the line against any efforts they might make to interfere with its operation.

Once this is done, it should be entirely possible to extend the road to the Chinese frontier, about 200 miles to the east and from there approximately 150 miles further through Chinese territory to the Burma road's western branch.

Obstacles encountered in the building of the newly completed first link of the Ledo road have proved tremendous. Principal difficulties have been offered by mountains, jungles and malaria.

Now that the first section of the Ledo road has been completed, the campaign to eliminate the Japanese from the Hukawng valley has begun. American engineering troops and native coolies are presumably being shipped into the west to attack the second section of their task with the Burma road only a little more than 200 miles away.

Statements and opinions herein are private to the writer and are not to be construed as reflecting the views of the Navy department.

RUSSIAN ADVANCES FORCE HUNGARY MOVE

taken over Hungary, lock, stock and barrel. Rumania and Bulgaria may soon suffer a like fate.

On the face of it, Hitler's military seizure of a satellite nation he had always coveted in the past, evinced unusual respect and compassion for its Magyar sensibilities and fanatical devotion to independence and freedom, appeared to be dictated solely by the rapid advances of the Russian army deep into Rumanian Bessarabia and Poland.

Yet Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin's swiftly-moving, triumphant lessons are still a very great distance from Hungary and Hitler can hardly envisage overnight collapse of the Rumanian armies—and even less the forbidding Carpathian mountains which encircle both Hungary and Rumania in a protective arm of stone and soil.

May Explain Move

Two possibilities therefore would seem to explain the German move in other fashions:

One is Hungarian disaffection with the Nazi cause and a Hungarian desire to make a separate peace.

The other is Hitler's fear of an Allied landing in Yugoslavia and an arrow-straight drive up the Vardar river valley to Vienna, Prague—and Berlin.

Reports that black-shirted Elite Guards of Hitler's own Schutzstaffel are patrolling the streets of Budapest lend considerable color to the first theory, particularly if it is borne in mind that when Hungary was carved out of the dual monarch in 1918 by the treaty of Trianon its population became 90 per cent pure Magyars.

The German minority was reduced to five percent and the balance was made up of stray Russians, Ruthenians and other Slavs.

No Threat To Hungary

Certainly, the actual military situation in eastern Europe at the present moment holds no visible threat to Hungary. On the contrary, the Russians are exerting the heaviest pressure they can bring to bear on the historic routes of conquest to the west.

One Soviet column is pressing toward Lwow, the great commercial center of Poland, while other Soviet troops are bearing down on Baiti in Bessarabia. On the deep southern front which would menace Hungary itself, the Russians have not yet taken Nikolayev or Odessa; the Crimea still is in German hands and the Nazis have full control of the western shores of the Black sea.

On Hungary's southern border, however, Yugoslav partisans are fighting brilliantly and successfully, presumably awaiting the day when the Allied high command will find it propitious to send troops to land in Bosnia and Montenegro.

If Hitler fears any such development, creation of an iron fortress in Hungary is not only logical but mandatory.

RUSSIAN FORCES PURSUE FLEEING GERMAN TROOPS

point on which to base its surge across the Dniester into Rumania. Taking advantage of this position, as well as that at previously captured Yampol, Konev's forces swarmed across the stream and herded the Nazis southward through Bessarabia along a 30-mile front.

In one sector, the German high command hurled two Rumanian infantry divisions into a counter-attack to cover the retreat of the Nazis. While the Satellite troops were unmercifully mauled, the "routed" Germans fled; but the Soviet tank and infantry men "over-threw" the covering screen and inflicted heavy losses upon the combined enemy forces, the communique said.

Ivanovka Taken

Farther to the southwest, where the Red Army continued to gain in its drive below Novo-Ukrainka, several more populated places were taken, including the heavily-fortified village of Ivanovka.

Marshal Gregory Zhukov's First Army, according to late dispatches from the Polish front, is pushing west and southwest from captured Dubno in a multi-pronged drive toward the Carpathian mountains and the great railroad junction at Lwow. One report said Soviet spearheads were but 53 miles from Lwow.

As the enemy's position in Southern Russia deteriorated, reports persisted that the Nazis soon would be cleared out of the Crimea.

Near Balti Junction

London, March 21.—Reuter's said today that spearheads of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's Russian Army already are within several miles of the Balti rail junction, deep in Rumanian Bessarabia. The report was attributed to Moscow dispatches.

Balti, approximately 34 miles beyond the Dniester river, is considered the key to Jassy where Nazi Field Marshal Fritz Von Manstein recently had his headquarters.

With more and more Soviet forces pouring across the Dniester, the battle before Balti was reported growing steadily in intensity and the Germans were said to be hurrying fresh reserves to the region.

Luftwaffe commanders particularly were ordered to throw all their available planes into an attempt to halt the Russian crossings of the Dniester. Reuter's asserted.

NAZIS BATTLE TO MAINTAIN SLIGHT HOLD ON CASSINO

allied commander-in-chief in this theater characterized as "stubborn" the relentless struggle now under way in the crater-pocked streets of the mountain stronghold. German machine-guns fought from behind every available heap of debris to protect the two main bastions still in Nazi hands within the limits of Cassino and sought to protect the approaches to the highway six—the main road to Rome.

British Lash Out

Farther north, in the Anzio beach-head sector on the west coast of the Italian mainland, British troops lashed out with two forceful thrusts against enemy positions and inflicted heavy casualties on the surprised Germans, the official statement disclosed.

During yesterday's operations, the bulgins added, the Mediterranean air force flew some 1,100 sorties.

Earlier reports asserted that the Allied infantrymen within Cassino have advanced a few more precious yards in the streets of that town despite furious enemy opposition.

Battlefront reports asserted that the ruined Continental hotel fell to New Zealand infantrymen, including knife-thrusting Maoris, after hours of bitter combat.

The British radio reported, however, in a broadcast recorded by NBC in New York, that fresh German reinforcements have succeeded in infiltrating back into the ruins of the hostelry which earlier had been the scene of a desperate hand-to-hand fight. Nazi tanks then had been wheeled into position on the lower floors of the hotel in a frantic bid to prevent its occupation by the allies.

While the allies fought their way over heaps of rubble left by exploding aerial bombs and artillery shells, other units to the west battled against the Germans along the nearby mountain range flanking the town itself. The allies concentrated particularly on attempting to oust the Nazis from a hillside feature which the Germans had taken yesterday.

Ancient Romans are said to have driven nails into the walls of their homes as antidote against the plague. It is thought that this practice and the later one of nailing up horseshoes, originated from the rite of the Passover.

STORM TROOPERS OF NAZIS TIGHTEN GRIP ON HUNGARY

from Berlin that informed circles in the Nazi capital expect similar action to be taken against both Rumania and Bulgaria, two warring nations whose defection could menace the Germans' flank in much the same manner as Hungary. Well-posted observers in the Swedish capital also felt that such a move might be a logical follow-up to the surprise drive into Hungary.

Reported with Horthy when he was seized were General Franz Szombathelyi, head of the Hungarian general staff and Foreign Minister Jeno Von Ghyzey, and possibly other military leaders. All were in the German headquarters to attend a conference called by Hitler when Nazi troops, 40,000 of whom were concentrated a week ago at Osmark, marched into Hungary, touching off sporadic resistance which reportedly grew in violence as the magnitude of the German move became more widely realized.

Leaders Taken Prisoner

Although these three leaders reportedly were taken prisoner, observers pointed out that Prime Minister Miklos De Kallay was not present at the time. Hitler himself had claimed earlier that De Kallay had resigned, but so far this has not been confirmed.

Nazi chieftains seized their Allies following rejection of the following demands, reports trickling in from various neutral sources indicated:

Hungary be totally mobilized. Hungarian workers be sent to Germany.

Increased exports of food supplies to Germany be guaranteed.

The Nuremberg racial laws be applied to Hungarian Jews.

Small opposition political parties be totally disbanded.

Polish nationals in Hungary, estimated 60,000 be the same harsh treatment as in Germany.

In addition to stressing the demand that Hungary be mobilized in toto to provide additional troops to throw against the Red Army, the Nazis reportedly insisted that the Soviet advance made the protection of Hungarian territory a vital necessity. Since they asserted, Hungarian troops could not handle this assignment, it would become necessary for the Germans to occupy the key points of the country—a familiar pattern which they followed several times in the earlier days of the war.

Advance Is Made

In the past few weeks, we have been calling people's attention to some of the unsatisfactory things that happen so many times, on account of people neglecting to make some arrangements before death, and we named some of them.

In order to avoid these things, it is a small matter, while one is in good health, to first, write a Will, and select a burial lot in a cemetery and pay for it, as it is real estate. Then select your funeral furnishings from some good funeral director, and do not pay him for it, but deposit that amount of money in a bank, payable to him when needed and these troubles for your relatives will be over.

Plans were completed for a chicken dinner on April 3 at 5 o'clock for members and friends.

King's Daughters' Luncheon

King's Daughters Bible class of the First Methodist church will meet at the church on Thursday at 12:30 for a luncheon followed by election of officers. Mrs. W. R. Wallace is program chairman.

The biggest news in albums is the release of "Frankie Carle And His Girl Friends." We've been waiting for this over a year and now it is here—"Ida," "Liza," "Rose Marie," "Charmaine," "Margie" and several others—enough said!

Amusing is the recording of Leo Brown—"A Good Man Is Hard to Find" . . . "All the Things You Are" by Artie Shaw, vocaled by Helen Forrest is quite listenable.

The Ink Spots' new member, "Don't Believe Everything You Dream" in their usual style, will please you.

A notable re-issue, very effective for either concert or devotional period is Faure's "Requiem." The sensitive phrasing of the vocal group is very moving in the "Agnus Dei," sung by M. Didier, baritone, Suzanne Dupont, soprano; Edouard Commette organist.

Technical, with brilliant technique, is the delightful "Burlaska" by Nathan Milstein.

"Georgia On My Mind," "Embraceable You," "Shine" are included in the "Strictly From Dixie" album by Linda Keene and Henry Levine.

Music Maintains Morale.

Mrs. Thomas Shreffler gave a splendid review of Sholem Asch's book, "The Apostle".

Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. James R. Green. Miss Kathryn Boston, newly elected president, presided, and later poured at the refreshment table.

Associate hostesses were Mrs. Robert McBurney, Mrs. Craig McBurney, Mrs. Charles Siegfried and Mrs. Henry R. Neil.

Heath-Lawson Wedding

Miss Ella Mae Heath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Druschel, of 755 Arlington avenue, and W. O. Russell Carl Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer of 725 East Long avenue, were united in marriage by Rev. Clyde W. Dietrich in the Emanuel Evangelical church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Members of the immediate families were present.

Miss Irene Hemming was the bride's only attendant, while Eddie Nogay served Mr. Lawson as best man.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of light blue. Miss Hemming wore a navy blue dress.

Both wore corsages of gardenias.

Mrs. Lawson is affiliated with the National Radiator Company, and the groom is serving with the United States Merchant Marine.

Farewell Party

Members of the lining department of the Shenando Pottery gathered recently to honor Frank Morgan and Jack Ritchie, two of their group who are leaving soon for the Navy.

After a delicious spaghetti dinner was enjoyed, each of the boys was presented with a gift from their fellow employees.

Dancing was the main diversion for the balance of the evening.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sacco, Ann Skabala, seaman 2-c Mrs. Frank Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Jay.

Mary Lucidore, Sophie Sniezek and Sophie Zubkowsky comprised the committee in charge of the event.

Pioneer Club

Pioneer club members met at the home of Mrs. Mina Davis, of Neshannock avenue, Monday evening.

After a short business meeting, games were enjoyed. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mattie Turner, Mrs. Grace Bannister and Mrs. Charlotte McCullough.

Mrs. William Crane, who was a special guest, was remembered with a gift.

A tasty lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Mrs. Crane. Next meeting of the group will be a ten-ten dinner Monday, April 17, at the home of Mrs. Bannister, West Falls street.

Servicemen Honored

In the home of Mrs. J. W. Wilson last evening, a spaghetti dinner party was held, the occasion honoring three servicemen, her son, John Edgar Wilson, Chief Petty Officer of the U. S. Navy who has been in the Pacific for twenty-three months.

Sgt. Norman Matlack of Long Island, New York and Clifford Carlson who leaves shortly to enter the U. S. Service as an aviation cadet.

Informal diversions filled in the leisure hours that ensued.

Honor Fifth Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pazzo, of 814 Porter street, entertained 15 small guests at a party Sunday in honor of the fifth birthday of their daughter, Annette.

Games were enjoyed. A prize was presented to each of the guests.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, aided by Miss Mary Irene Steiner. A large cake was used as the centerpiece of the table.

Many lovely gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Friendly Friends Change

Friendly Friends club members have postponed their meeting scheduled for Wednesday evening with Mrs. Stella Alcorn, R. D. 2, Pulaski, until further notice.

DIFFICULT SUMMER AHEAD

RESPONSIBLE military authorities say we are approaching what will probably be the final summer of the war in Europe. If this is so, then we are facing the war's most difficult summer. It will require extra effort from those at home.

Nowhere, according to present indications, will this extra effort be needed more than in food production. So before we become too immersed in post-war planning and political speculation, let's take a serious look at the prospects.

There are two chief difficulties among the predictable obstacles to raising still another record crop in 1944. One is the scarcity of labor. The other, confusion regarding future of price control and stabilization.

Solution of the second difficulty rests with Congress and President. Their task is complicated by the shortage of time, and by the political fight over the subsidy program.

Solution of the first problem rests with women and youths and men out of service. Last year women and boys and girls under 18 made up about 1,500,000 of the 3,500,000 supplementary workers. This year the Department of Agriculture estimates that this supplementary force will have to be 4,000,000. It has assigned to women and youngsters the task of making up the difference.

The implication in this is that the remaining 2,000,000 of last year's season workers marked a peak figure, and that we cannot depend on getting more imported labor, war prisoners and furloughed soldiers to take up the slack.

It's a job for the ordinary civilian, and the need may be even greater that the Agriculture department's estimate shows. For since the estimate was issued, draft deferments for farm workers have been tightened, and the agriculture labor force is now at a record low—4 per cent below the figure at the same time last year.

There is every indication that our annual food crop will have fewer producers and more consumers in 1944 than ever before. The armed forces' needs cannot be denied. An invasion of Europe will necessitate heavy replacements, and the liberation of half-starved Europeans will present another outlet for our food supply.

The only solution seems to be for more women and children to continue the excellent job done last year, for more businessmen within reach of farms to give an afternoon or full day whenever possible, for more vacationers to take a holiday of agricultural work.

All this and Victory Gardens too can turn the trick.

POSTWAR FARMING

Farm equipment is to be greatly improved after the war. Engineers have on their drawing boards plans and specifications for new equipment which promise to revolutionize many phases of agricultural labor. Not only will standard machines be improved greatly, but many new devices intended to lighten labor are promised. Many machines will be lighter in weight, with aluminum used for castings and even plastic employed in some cases.

Farmers have been wondering when the boys who are planning the rosy future for all would get around to farm machinery. They have been regaled with stories about the home of the future, heated by the sun, drawing its water supply from the humidity in the air and otherwise quite novel, the automobile of the future, which would require so little gasoline as to be practically powered by perpetual motion, and the clothing of the dream age after the war which certainly is to be like nothing ever worn or seen. Changes in farm machinery are to be no less drastic.

Cotton pickers will be perfected, which will be good news for southern farmers who undoubtedly will be compelled to depend more upon machines than human labor. A machine to "chop" hay in the field is guaranteed to produce a better quality, as well as to eliminate the hazards of weather spoilage. Corn ensilage attachments have made their debut.

But that isn't all. There will be a one-man, self-tying baler, self-propelled combines, new equipment for contour farming and subsoil machines to drain low places. Equipment will be simplified, safety measures stressed, and a myriad of improvements of a revolutionary character. Some of these gadgets may find their way into production before the end of the war, it is predicted. Even after the roseate hue is shaded, it is evident that the farm will never be entirely the same.

SAVING LIVES

Continued bombing attacks upon Germany are intended primarily to curtail Nazi air power, but other equally important objectives are being realized. Tank production is a prime necessity if the Germans are to continue with any success resisting Russian and Allied forces on different fronts. Armored might on land holds an equal place with strength in the air.

During the past 12 months Germany has been subjected to bombing by daylight as well as by night. In that period great damage has been inflicted on Nazi war production, surpassing that of the entire period prior to last March 1. Plants producing tanks have been given special attention. Five of the nine plants known to have been producing that type of weapon have been put out of business.

Undoubtedly the Allies are gaining mastery of the air to an increasing degree as bombing continues. At the same time ground weapons are being destroyed before leaving the factories with an accompanying curtailment of further production. All this is destined to lessen German resistance when invasion comes.

This blasting of German war production will result in the saving of thousands of American lives when the Allies start on their triumphal march to Berlin.

Hitler's report has it, may purge all Nazi generals who met failure on the Russian front. What does he want to do—fight this war single-handed?

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Woodring's Stand

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Roosevelt tossed into one of his press conferences the word "Picaresque" which, as I recall it, had a tendency to bounce back. But as Webster defines it: "something of very small, or of the least value." It fits perfectly certain of his opposition that has now come out of the old familiar woodwork.

I refer specifically to Harry Woodring of Topeka, Kan., who has formed one of those committees to oppose the fourth term. There are plenty of valid reasons for opposing the fourth term but I feel confident that Woodring will embrace none of them.

He is a disgruntled ex-officeholder and there is no more unhappy breed of politician. Most of the members of his committee who have come to light so far are of the same stripe.

They include former Congressman John J. O'Connor, the only victim of the backfiring purge campaign of 1938. And, most wonderful of all, old Jim Reed of Missouri is lined up in this great crusade. Jim Reed has been in a temper for so long now that even he can't remember why.

Forced Resignation
With so many forces out to destroy not only Roosevelt but his record, it is worthwhile looking into Woodring's background and the reason for his abrupt exit from the Washington scene. He happens to be sole and unique for one reason only. Of all the odd and incongruous people assembled at the time or another within the present administration, Woodring is the only major officeholder whose resignation Roosevelt forced squarely on a question of policy.

Woodring was made Assistant Secretary of War in 1933. He became Acting Secretary when George Dern died suddenly. Then, through presidential inertia he was named Secretary. That was in 1936.

As Secretary, Woodring became involved in one of those disgraceful feuds that have too often shattered any possible harmony. His adversary was Louis Johnson, then Under-Secretary of War. Party policy, partly personality, the fight between the two was the talk of Washington.

Johnson was an interventionist. Woodring was an isolationist. And he kept right on being an isolationist down to that fateful month of June, 1940.

Then, with Britain almost completely defenseless—our Atlantic security about to crumble to nothingness—President Roosevelt wanted to give England some of the outmoded arms long stored in our arsenals. But Mr. Secretary of War was opposed. The approval of the Secretary of War was necessary. Woodring finally relented. His letter of resignation has never been made public. It would reveal the real cause of the break and it would show Woodring's opposition for what it was.

Understood Plight
FDR understood the desperate plight that America would be in if Britain went down. He tried to move. He might have moved faster if it had not been for the stubborn refusal of people like Harry Woodring to face reality.

Apparently there are some Americans who still refuse to face the facts of life. In letters that have come to me—most of them anonymous—the astonishing statement is made that Pearl Harbor could have been avoided if we had continued an appeasement course prior to the sneak attack.

This is to fail utterly to understand the nature of the enemy we face in the Pacific. It is an attempt to shut out the kind of grim reality that Robert Sherrod has put into his remarkable book on Tarawa.

The Japanese are fanatically determined on domination of the Pacific. They are determined to wipe out of existence the United States. Japan have not altered by one degree their determination to continue on a march of conquest. They would like nothing better than to have us accept the false thesis that the war was not of their deliberate making.

In the campaign of 1940 there was double talk by both sides on the war question. It may have been incredible since the issues had not been finally resolved as they were at Pearl Harbor. But in this year of 1944 the war cannot possibly be an issue.

Woodring announces he will have $1,050,000 to spend. Wouldn't it be a good idea to give part of that—say a million—to the Red Cross?

CUTS

For a small clean cut on the arm or leg, put a clean folded handkerchief or bandage on it.

Press firmly for a few minutes till the bleeding stops. Apply a bandage and leave it on.

If the cut is large and there is much bleeding, put on a tourniquet. A tourniquet is something tight around a limb. Use something like a large handkerchief or a towel or a belt. Wrap it around the limb above the cut and tighten or twist it gently till the bleeding stops. Do not make it one bit tighter than enough to stop the bleeding.

After the bleeding stops you can take the time to get a doctor.

ADVICE TO STEPMOTHER

"I am only twenty-three but am about to become the stepmother of a boy of ten and a girl of eight. How can I best proceed to make them love me as much as if I were their own mother?"—Sylvia.

Answer: First of all—don't tell them you are going to be a mother to them and don't ask them to call you "Mother," but by your first name. Indeed, many young children now call their own mothers by their first names and the world regards this as modern rather than flippant.

In other words, avoid every word or gesture that suggests you are usurping their own mother's place. A mother's death is the greatest tragedy in children's lives and for years afterward they are likely to be oversensitive on this question of usurpation. I showed your note last night to a man whose love for both his mother and stepmother was famous throughout our community. He said:

"Fourteen months after I had been saddened by my mother's death, my father married a young woman. I had never seen or heard of her. I had remained with my maternal relatives from whom I overheard much that was prejudicial against her. So, when my father sent me to meet her for the first time, I approached their household overcome with tears and foreboding."

"An attractive blonde girl of about twenty-two opened the door and I stood before her with tears pouring down my cheeks for I was but a small boy. She fell on her knees before me, took me in her arms, kissed my tears away and with a sweet smile assured me: 'We are going to be great friends and have many good times together.'"

"Thus I was conquered from the very beginning of our acquaintance. Soon we were out on roller skates together and she would always take me with her whenever she went outside my school hours. We became playmates and I never was conscious of her wielding any authority over me. Later she had two children of her own and it was always remarked in the family that she always showed me as much tenderness as she showed them. Indeed, recalling this, one of them lately remarked: 'Yes, you always got the biggest piece of pie!'"

This quotation from my friend's experience with his stepmother gives your query the best answer I can imagine. If I have anything to add to it, it is this:

"Don't let your husband tell his children that he has placed you over them and that he expects them to obey you. Don't arouse their jealousy by allowing him affectionate embraces in their presence, until they have become thoroughly used to the new relationship. During this period, refrain from giving them unsolicited advice. Laugh them out of their peccadilloes. Suggest, never command; but all the while exercise over them eternal vigilance and give them the protection for which they will bless you throughout their mature years."

Tomorrow—Attaining Poise.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HANDLING PROBLEM OF STEP-CHILDREN

For obvious reasons, more widowers than widows re-marry. The woman who marries a widower with growing children and proves a successful step-mother has won a great achievement. Those who are successful are able to win the approval and esteem of the children, even before marriage. If the new wife of the widower has growing children of her own, the approval of his children is the more essential to the success of the marriage.

"Dear Dr. Myers: We are a troubled man and woman and decided that, with your knowledge of children and human relationships, you might give us some help."

"He is a widower with three daughters, ages 11, 15, 21. I am a widow with four youngsters ages 4, 9, 15, 17. We are deeply in love and want to be married, but we are afraid because of our families. They're just normal kids, maybe spoiled, in some ways, because they had to be left alone, and on their own a lot, as we've both had to make a living.

Widow's Problem

"Do you think we possibly can make a happy home and a successful marriage with so much to contend with? Would small hurts and jealousies overshadow our marriage and make it a failure? We're with this together and sincerely hope you can give us some advice, encouragement, if possible, as it seems we're really on the spot."

"P.S. My older children have given us their blessing—their own words—but his girls seem to resent his love for her. They can't seem to see that his love for them and his love for her are two entirely different emotions. A self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed."

Enclosing my bulletin on "Jealousy" and my reading list on marriage, I replied about as follows: You have, indeed, a difficult undertaking, but the thoughtful way you are considering it and the independence of the children on both sides are favorable. Your chances for success will depend on how well you and the prospective husband can adapt yourselves to each other and to each other's children, and the two sets of children to each other.

Requires Patience

It is about as natural for his children to resent his marriage as for you children to approve it. The first big problem is for you and the widower to win the approval of his children and this may have to come slowly and your role in it will be the larger one.

Then with immeasurable patience by both of you and endless effort at trying to see through each other's eyes and through the eyes of all the children on both sides, both of you striving always to bring out the best in each other and every one of the children, treating every one of the new family group as a sacred personality, success is quite possible. That would be a glorious victory. Just remember that for success each of you will have to work harder than if it were a first marriage at a much earlier age. The achievement, of course, also would be greater.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. I wonder if you can give me some suggestions on how to help my boy to take more interest in his homework.

A. In your self-addressed stamped envelope I am sending you my "Parents and the Child's Home Work."

Q. My son, 18 years old, attends an engineering college. One night he came home very late and had some studying to do. I sternly rebuked him, causing his father to punish him severely. Should I apologize to my son?

A. Yes; moreover, a college boy hardly will profit from a reprimand by you or punishment by his father; certainly not on such occasions as you name.

Q. I have heard a pleasant story about Kathleen Canell, an American orphan, who was in Paris and in bondage as definite as any that ever held a negro to a cotton plantation before the Civil War. Reports, meager though they are, indicate that the German slave is in a far more serious plight than was the slave of our Southern States.

The German slave is bound to a master more stern and uncompromising than any Simon Legree who ever lashed a negro's back. His existence is threatened by a system and a master which knows no mercy. If he tries to run away he is shot or imprisoned under conditions that make him wish he were dead.

And if he escapes he does so at a price which is no less a price as his captors, his relatives may be subjected to inhumanities which completely eclipse the worst that has been credited to the old-time slave master of the United States. Perhaps not even the Germans know how many slaves they now have working, or how many have been killed or starved to death. Apparently their only interest in the matter is to be certain there is ample replacement for those who become useless to the Nazi cause.

Only in post-war days will the world be able to appreciate even a fraction of the torture endured by these slaves, and by that time death will have erased much of the evidence as it has done in China where the Japs have looked upon captives as servants of the State.

New Miss Canell is back in her own country. I do not know what has happened to the little dog.

Where each celestial planet spins Today the equinox begins. But I've been fooled by that before. Had springtime standing at the door.

And waked at morn, and told to go Straightforth to shovel off the snow. And I have learned no sage alive Can tell when springtime will arrive.

That Spring will come I dare not say. For Time gives man no guarantee That spring on hand will really be.

Washington Report

Finds Officers Not As Orthodox As In Past
American Named Assistant To Mountbatten
Woman Stays In Paris Rather Than Leave Dog

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The servicemen of the armed forces who are leading the warriors of land, sea and air are not as orthodox fellows this year of 1944 as they were in previous years.

What I really mean is this: the top officers who are directing this most desperate of all international struggles are men of sharp individuality. They are not the conventional "Yes, yes, sir" type. They obey rules, of course. But they make more rules than they follow. And succeed often because of their independence and leadership.

There to prove my theory is "Speck" Wheeler, just ordered to China, Burma and India. This newly made assistant to Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten has another name than the nickname his classmates at West Point gave him because of the horrid rim and nickel glasses he wore when he was a student at the United States Military Academy. He got the John A. Wheeler in Peoria, where he is a favorite son, but not as well known by the inhabitants there as he is in Delhi, India.

Recently General "Speck" got a new insignia for his uniform—the shoulder patch lately ordered for the forces of India. The patch shows a phoenix bird arising from the ashes in the mythological manner. This emblem is meant to typify the rebirth of Allied strength in India.

Not Unapproachable

When General Wheeler was shown the insignia he made a comment that is characteristic of this modern outspoken manner of servicemen which greatly pleases me and everybody else too. He said: "When you see on the patch he is careful to have the phoenix facing the rear looking toward where it has been. Not toward the front to see where it is going. This is the rule you understand. I'm prepared to obey it. But I'm in a good deal of a hurry to see Mountbatten to ask him how he can explain the backward looking attitude of this bird."

When General "Speck" Wheeler gets to India he will certainly not be one of the "unapproachable" or "untouchables" indigenous to the native soil. He started out in life as a cheery middle westerner. And even if he hadn't had that good beginning in understanding his fellow men he must have learned a powerful lot about living and the survival of the fittest in the "mile walk" he took from Burma through the jungles to civilization. Mountbatten's United States Assistant was in Burma for a year and a half and took part in the big military push. While he was "walking out" of dangerous territory all of the neighborhood sounds pretty bad to me, he had no food except bits dropped here and there among the bushes and snakes and venom from airplanes. The thought of such eating gives my ration ticket a positive halo of blessedness.

Recently General Wheeler got his second Distinguished Service Medal. How does a man wear TWO Distinguished Service Medals? I don't know. But they are nice to have. Very nice.

It is understood that he received the second medal for his part in the "mile walk" I am now about to quote President Roosevelt in Indian air transportation which has made it possible now to "ship more supplies to China through the air than it was ever possible to push down the Burma road."

Sgt. Durwood Jones, Guadalcanal Vet, In California Hospital

Local Marine Recovering From Injuries Received When
Pinned Under Plane

U. S. NAVAL HOSPITAL, Oakland, Calif., March 21.—Marine Staff Sergeant Durwood Jones, 19, a veteran of Guadalcanal and Munda, has been returned to the United States and is convalescing here from injuries received at Guadalcanal.

An aviation mechanic, Staff Sergeant Jones was standing near the end of the air strip on Guadalcanal when a dive bomber made a crash landing and pinned him underneath the plane on the edge of the "mat." "It all happened so suddenly that I just couldn't get out of the way," says the youthful marine staff sergeant. "I was pinned between the 'mat' and the plane and it was a miracle that I am here today." He received injuries to his side and stomach.

The Union high school graduate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd N. Jones, of 1105 West Washington street, New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Prior to enlisting in the Marine Corps, March 5, 1942, Staff Sergeant Jones was employed at the Paul Hahn Garage in New Castle.

Mrs. Roosevelt Is Now In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela, March 21.—(INS)—Election of a Republican president to succeed her husband would not, in her opinion, affect the United States good neighbor policy, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt declared today.

She made that statement after placing a wreath on the tomb of Simon Bolivar, the South American Liberator, and after attending a dinner in her honor given by President Medina.

MARRIED 60 YEARS

NEW BRIGHTON, March 21.—(INS)—Mrs. L. D. Brenner, lifelong residents of New Sewickley township, Monday celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding. One of the features was a reception in Barry's church. They have six children, four sons and two daughters.

Truckers To Aid In Paper Drive

Door-To-Door Collection To Be Employed In April
Paper Campaign

Aid in the collection of waste paper in New Castle in the April drive was promised Monday night, March 20 by the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association. On motion it was decided that the members would donate trucks and a committee consisting of E. D. Fee and Walter McCormick named to handle the details.

The chapter will participate in a conference of the Western Pennsylvania Planning Commission which will meet in Youngstown on March 29 for a dinner conference. This body is primarily interested in good roads in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio with particular reference to a continuation of the super-highway through this district.

During the monthly dinner meeting of the chapter Monday night in the Castleton the matter of representation to the annual convention of the state organization in June was discussed.

Preparing For Fifth War Loan

HARRISBURG, March 21.—(INS)—Preparations were disclosed underway today for the fifth war loan drive, whose date and goal will be announced soon.

The most critical stage of the war, insular as war financing is concerned, is approaching, Ted R. Gamble, of Washington, D. C., national director of the treasury department's war finance division told the Interstate Circulation Men's Association last night at its annual meeting in Harrisburg. "We are just reaching the peak of war expenditures," he disclosed. "Americans will be called upon to do more in financing the war because the war will be costing more."

EVERY MILE OF VICTORY is a mile added to supply lines...

ACROSS shell-torn fields... through dense jungles... up sharp-edged mountainous trails... our fighting men are wrestling battered soil from relentless enemies.

Every mile we gain is bought in blood and pain. Every advance costs precious lives and huge quantities of equipment and supplies.

As we gain more ground, our supply lines stretch farther and farther. All the food, fuel, equipment and munitions our men need must arrive on schedule. And that means using more trains to keep these vital materials moving to the front lines.

For the big job of Erie and other American Railroads is to keep the men, materials and munitions from all parts of the country flowing to the battlefronts all over the world.

With the continued cooperation of the public, shippers and government agencies, Erie and other American Railroads will deliver the goods so the miles of victory will roll on!

Civil War Vet, 99, Visits Grandson Hurt At Tarawa

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (INS)—Memories of Bull Run and Antietam mingled with tales of bloody Tarawa when 99-year-old Theodore A. Penland, Civil War veteran of Portland, Ore., visited his grandson, Floyd Malcolm Penland, 29, of Waynesboro, Va., a U. S. Marine private recently returned from the South Pacific.

A veteran of the Army of the Potomac, Penland, commander of the Department of Oregon, Grand Army of the Republic, flew from Portland to be at bedside of his grandson, who is recovering from wounds in a U. S. naval hospital. The two last met in 1935 in Portland.

Private Penland was wounded by shrapnel as he raced on the beach with the first wave of Marines to hit Tarawa.

The elder Penland enlisted with his father and three brothers in the Union Army at the age of 16. His father was shot through the hip and stomach at the second battle of Bull Run but was able to walk and lived for three days after the battle.

AROUND CITY HALL

Plans and specifications have been prepared and bids are being sought for the construction of a storm water drainage system on Neal street, a section of Route 422 by-pass. The system will begin in Grove street, cross into Neal street, run down Mechanic street to an alley between South Mill and Neal street, thence down an alley to an old sewer in an alley below Mechanic street, according to City Engineer John Z. Street.

Although snow covers city streets spring is here, hence the safety line painters soon will be required to do street work. During the cold months they have worked in a room in the city police garage painting traffic signs.

George A. Patterson, city assessor, is scrutinizing all claims of persons having been placed in a wrong assessment classification. Recently some men who were classed as craftsmen claimed they were laborers.

City Engineer John Z. Street today stated that nothing has been heard recently as to when Contractor Roy Furman will begin laying an asphalt surface in Highland avenue. However, he anticipates latter April as time for the operation.

The London Daily Telegraph, said that Frankfurt is the most devastated city in Germany and that Saturday's raid by the Royal Air Force resulted in 9,000 deaths. "Many hundreds" of others were reported still buried in the rubble.

New Type Explosives
New types of high explosives were dropped in the assault, the travelers said, wiping out entire districts. Heaviest destruction was reported in the central, northern and western sections.

A force of from 250 to 500 heavy American bombers, escorted by an estimated 600 long-distance fighters, pulverized vital "military targets" in the Frankfurt area yesterday while other United States raiders hammered northern France.

Despite an overcast, the Yank bombardiers dropped their explosives upon Frankfurt by means of instruments. An occasional break in the cloud bank disclosed that the bombing had been done "with good effect," returning crewmen said.

Six heavy bombers and eight fighters were lost in the Frankfurt assault.

Meantime, the other U. S. bombers hit three French airfields, a railroad junction north of Paris and the Pas De Calais "rocket gun coast." Thunderbolts of the Ninth Air Force returned without loss after unloading 50-pound bombs on Poix, Conches and Abbeville's dromes.

BOY SCOUTS

Scout Leaders Go On Hike
In true scout fashion twenty-three scout leaders of New Castle gave a practical demonstration Sunday afternoon at the council camp site of "how to enjoy the outdoors" without the comforts of home.

Under the leadership of C. J. Trump, the scout leaders spent several hours in the actual practice of making a map, using their natural pace in measuring distance and filling in with proper symbols landmarks adjacent to the mapping area.

The Beaver, Wolf and Eagle patrols under the leadership of their patrol leaders demonstrated that cooking can be done and enjoyed without the use of modern culinary equipment even on a cold winter day. The "bean-hole-beans" prepared under the leadership of Troop Scribe Ralph Reed, were indeed excellent and done to a "T."

One of the unusual bits of culinary skill was the baking of an egg in a half orange peel. While it was the first time for several of the men to actually prepare an egg in this fashion, the project was reported as a huge success.

No scout hike would be a complete success without the atmosphere of a campfire. Nick Castillo, in his traditional fashion, gave a most interesting story of the geological history of Slippery Rock Creek and the immediate surrounding territory of which the Lawrence County Council Boy Scouts of America camp site is a part. While assembled about the open-air campfire during the snow storm, Scoutmaster Ralph Davis presented certificates to the following men in recognition of their achievement. Advance certificates to Senior Patrol Leader N. J. McCluskey, Troop Scribe Ralph Reed, Patrol Leaders Perry McCollom, Keith Van Fossan, and Clifford Robinson. The following scouts were presented certificates as evidence of satisfactorily completing the course in the scoutmaster's training: J. Walter Green, Jr., Hiram Lamphier, Kenneth Boslick, Roy E. Graham, Robert J. Falen, Eugene Robb, Fred Fiske, Howard B. Foster, Everett B. Martin, Albert W. Garren, Jim Hilborn and E. R. Peck.

cult for the enemy to maintain its garrisons and fleet units which are under heavy Allied pressure in the forward war zones.

Knox declined to give details of any of the Japanese ship sinkings, explaining that such data might aid the enemy in combatting the American undersea campaign.

Nineteen Subs Lost
So far 19 American submarines have been lost in operations in the Pacific and the ratio has increased lately. Knox and naval officials have pointed out that the Japanese are becoming more proficient in anti-submarine tactics but American seamen also have become more skillful in knocking out enemy vessels.

In a general discussion of the Pacific war, Knox said there have been no startling developments recently but that American and Allied sea and air forces have maintained a "steady, steady hammering" against enemy bastions from the Kuriles to New Guinea.

"American planes have ranged at will over Japanese-held territory,"

Power Company Will Get Award

National Security Award To Be Formally Presented To Penna. Power Co.

New Castle division, Pennsylvania Power company, will be honored at a banquet at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Cathedral when the division will be formally presented with the national security award by Lieutenant Colonel William D. Perce, executive officer, Third Defense region.

Dr. Ralph Cooper, executive director, State Council of Defense and president of W. & J. college will deliver the principal address.

W. H. Sammis, president of the Pennsylvania Power company, in behalf of the New Castle division, will make the acceptance address.

John G. Watson, regional director, civilian defense, will present a program to the company which will be accepted by Thomas Paden, company superintendent of operations.

Dr. C. C. Green, county civilian defense head, will present the various heads of the company's war groups with lapel emblems.

The National Security award was earned by the company because of superior achievement in protecting the utility's facilities against possible sabotage, attack and avoidable accidents.

While the award covers protective measures, it is also recognized that the company at all times has been able to supply all of the service required of it and no war industry or home has been deprived of electric service for essential service.

L. B. Round, prominent in civic and defense organizations, is the vice president of the Pennsylvania Power company. Since the outbreak of the war he has been engaged strenuously in not only seeing that full and efficient electric service has been provided, but has been a bulwark in defending the home front.

The employees of the company have followed their leader and at all times have responded to calls for the better welfare of the public and when they and their wives gather around the banquet table Wednesday night can rest assured that their efforts have won the National Security award.

Decries Idea That Highway Chaos Likely After War

STATE COLLEGE, March 21.—Training the nation's youth to be skilled and courteous automobile drivers will insure postwar traffic safety, according to Amos E. Neyhart, administrative head of the Institute of Public Safety at the Pennsylvania State College, who decries the assumption that the end of the war will bring highway chaos.

The Penn State expert advocates establishment of driver training courses in all high schools on the grounds that it is the new drivers who will need to develop the right attitudes, skills, and understanding of the traffic problem. They are the ones, he feels, who are suffering maladjustment and warped concepts because of the war.

Assuming that traffic accidents will increase in the postwar world is wicked and dangerous, he said, for it creates a power of suggestion on a national scale that might exert an unhealthy influence on returning servicemen and subsequently contribute to an accident increase.

"The chief element of training for men in this war," he explained, "has been self-preservation and safety, and I am confident that men returning from the war fronts appreciate even more than we do the value of human life. I don't think, therefore, that they will provide any safety problem in the postwar world."

New York State Observers See Dewey Nominee

ALBANY, N. Y., March 21.—(INS)—Veteran political observers in New York State's Capitol predicted today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey who still insists he is not a candidate, will become the Republican candidate for president on the first ballot.

As the 1944 New York legislature closed its session and deposited hundreds of bills on the governor's desk a survey of GOP members disclosed that they expect Dewey to receive 90 of New York's 93 delegate votes.

They cited the hold which Dewey maintained on this legislature as an example of his power and prestige. Even those members of the GOP majority who did not entirely agree with all of his objectives teamed with the governor to hurry passage of legislation he sought.

Members of the Democratic minority conceded that Dewey had obtained much favorable notice from his two-and-a-half months legislative session and admitted there was little in his program they could oppose.

Although alphabetically New York State will not be in a position to nominate the youthful governor at the GOP presidential nominating convention, Republican legislators believe that when the roll call gets to the Empire State the response will be "New York casts 90 votes for Thomas E. Dewey."

This, they said, will clinch the first ballot nomination.

Letters Have Big Effect On Yanks

Returned U.S.O. Entertainers Give Hints On What To Write To Overseas Soldiers

By JAMES POWERS (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, March 21.—Most detrimental to the morale of U. S. fighting men are the letters of undignified—and conscious—complaint written from home by relatives who little realize the devastating effect of a careless word or phrase.

Louise Albritton, tall, green-eyed Texas blonde, and June Clyde, a pert, vivacious redhead of Missouri and San Francisco, were unanimous today in this report after a return from closer to the front than any other USO entertainers have yet been.

"They put women at home on a pedestal," said Miss Albritton. "And when they fail to live up to the men's ideals in any way, it gives the guys a terrific blow."

Both she and Miss Clyde were emphatic in saying that the men bounce quickly back, refusing to allow it to interfere with their fighting spirit, but they thought letters should be more carefully composed.

"Make them 'Short and Gay,'" Miss Clyde advised. "Enclose clippings or pictures from the home town newspaper; they love that. And above all, be careful how you talk about rationing and shortage problems. They assume an importance all out of proportion to their real seriousness when the men over there read about them."

The two young women, who had known each other casually before they embarked on their three-months journey Jan. 4, visited and entertained in England, Morocco, Italy, Sicily and Sardinia.

Once they were entertained by a company of engineers in a field tent, knee-deep in mud, sitting on tin water cans.

"The most touching experience for me," said Miss Clyde, "was the time I stooped over a boy in a hospital who had been blinded. I told him who I was and that Louise and I had come from Hollywood to entertain the boys."

"He said: 'Yes, I know. I saw you both last night. I'm glad my last memory of this life is of you and Miss Albritton in those pretty evening gowns.' He had gone on a night mission shortly after and received the wound that blinded him."

Hillville school returned to the championship class in tin can collection in the past week, turning in a 100 per cent collection with a total of 3364 cans. In addition Hillville had the individual high score for the week, Anthony Crist, 14 years of age in the 7th grade turning in 430 cans.

Two other schools also turned in 100 per cent averages. Sunny avenue and New Wilmington and oddly enough both are tied for total with 1513 cans. Both schools are always well up in the lead in their weekly collections.

Chevron had a 98 per cent collection with 667 cans. Bessemer had 99 per cent with 2253 cans. New Bedford 63 per cent with 644 cans. Mt. Jackson 39 per cent with 1094 cans. Glen-More 26 per cent with 737 cans. Union township 25 per cent with 1223 cans. Walmo 10 per cent with 476 cans. Shenango 2548 cans and Shenango-Taylor 441 cans.

Dr. C. C. Green, chairman of the Lawrence County Council of Defense, has forwarded letters to various persons, requesting them to report Friday evening at the County Courthouse to receive public recognition of their contribution to the war effort on the home front. They will receive the official certificate and badge of merit for the time they have given as a volunteer. Those requested to be present are requested to go to the front of the courtroom where seats have been set aside for those who will receive the awards.

Frank Sargent, city co-ordinator, CD, today reported confusion has existed since the original announcement was made concerning awards. Those who will report for them March 24 at the Courthouse are wardens, fire guards, messengers, auxiliary police, auxiliary firemen, gas officers, decontamination, de-

Why there are "WAITING LISTS"

Many people who want telephone service today must go on "waiting lists."

The "waiting lists" and the "waits" are lengthening from week to week.

The reason is shortages of telephone facilities—wire, central office equipment, telephones. More than two years of war have used up most of the "margins" which have always been built into Bell System telephone plant.

Western Electric Company, peace-time producer of telephone equipment for the Bell System, is now engaged almost exclusively in production for the Army and Navy. It is the largest producer of electronic and other war communications equipment in the United States.

And there is no let-up in the communications needs of the Army and Navy.

Thus, production for the civilian communications needs of America is virtually at a standstill. Reserve supplies of telephones and telephone facilities are all but wiped out. To expand production of telephone equipment for civilian use would take not only materials, but also skilled manpower which cannot be diverted from production for war.

The construction of new telephone facilities, new telephone switchboards, new telephone cable lines, new telephone buildings, will begin as quickly as war-time demand permits the manufacture of the equipment from which they are built.

It is impossible today to fill orders for normal civilian needs without delays.

Every effort has been made—and will be made—to spread the limited telephone facilities so as to serve the greatest possible numbers with the least possible delays.

But there can be no delays in meeting the communications needs of war industry and of our armed forces. They cannot be put on any "waiting list."

Wreck Of Army Bomber Missing Since July, Found

SANTA MARIA, Cal., March 21.—(INS)—The wreck of an army bomber, missing since last July, has been discovered on San Miguel Island in Santa Barbara channel, officials at Santa Maria air field announced Monday.

Twelve bodies were found in or near the wreckage, it was said.

The air base also disclosed that a pilot and two passengers were killed Saturday when an army plane from Santa Maria crashed eight miles west of Madera, Cal.

Price Control Survey Shows Rules Observed

Lawrence county food merchants are co-operating in the ration plans of the Office of Price Administration, J. Lee McFate, chief clerk of the War Price and Ration Board, stated today. A survey of nearly 300 stores in Lawrence county has revealed the fact that there are no willful violations of price ceilings.

"Here and there we found some errors," said Mr. McFate, "but for the most part these were mistakes in judgment, honest errors that have been corrected."

The survey was started March 13 and is now completed. It included a check of prices of various food-stuffs with a report of each store surveyed turned in to the local ration office.

Garden Preparation Discussed For Group By Lewis C. Dayton

First Of Monday Evening Series For Victory Gardeners At Y.W.C.A.

First of a series of four Monday evening discussions for victory gardeners at the Y. W. C. A. was led by Lewis C. Dayton, county agricultural agent, who spoke on preparation of the garden, showed colored slides to illustrate, and answered questions from the audience. Mr. Dayton was introduced by Miss Marguerite D. White, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. A number of men and women attended the open meeting.

While the aim of the victory gardeners' group is to grow enough vegetables for the family for the entire year, whatever each gardener can grow, if it is only the summer's supply, will help.

Limitations he advised for the city victory gardeners who have a limited amount of space are: (1) Grow only common vegetables such as tomatoes, beans, lettuce, carrots, cabbage, beets, onions; (2) Don't put such vegetables as potatoes or squash in a small garden; (3) Select a well-drained site with 8 inches of loam; topsoil, one that sets at least 6 hours of direct sunlight a day, and as near home as possible.

Mr. Dayton stressed the importance of incorporating organic matter into the topsoil to the positions to improve its texture and moisture-retaining quality. If manure is spread on the garden, superphosphate should also be added. Commercial fertilizers this year are 5-10-5.

On Monday evening, March 27, Mr. Dayton will continue discussion of preparation of the garden and discuss varieties of vegetables most likely to give results. These meetings are open to the public.

DUST CAUSES FIRE

City firemen were called to the home of John Wyza, of 113 South Crawford avenue, at 5:15 o'clock Monday evening by an alarm from box 311. Fire Chief James E. Thomas reports today. It was found that dust in a hot air pipe had caught fire. Damage around $10 resulted.

Stassen Would 'Accept' If G.O.P. Selected Him

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(INS)—Lt. Commr. Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, informed Secretary of the Navy Knox today that he was not seeking any presidential nomination but that he would "accept" if it came to him without special effort.

In a letter to Knox the former Republican governor of Minnesota made clear his position on the matter because of numerous questions asked him by reporters and because his name has been linked in American papers to the race for the presidential nomination.

Stassen now is on duty as a flag secretary on the staff of Adm. William F. Halsey, Jr., commander of Allied forces in the South Pacific area.

'GOLDEN RULES' AT IRENE McCONNELL'S

On Monday evening, the Golden Rule class of the Mahoning Methodist church, were guests of Miss Irene McConnell, of 408 West Cherry street, at her home, when there was a good attendance.

The devotional period was in charge of Miss LaVida Sturges, also the business session.

Plans were completed for a theater party on Friday evening. The hostess, assisted by her brother, Harold, presented games of entertainment for the group's diversion; prizes were awarded to Misses Virginia Lee Stump, LaVida Sturges, Dorothy Kumrow, Elsie Jolley, Philomena Sparano, Mrs. W. C. Cavany.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by her sisters, Miss Myrtle McConnell and Mrs. Clyde Stevens.

Next social meeting of the class on April 17.

AUXILIARY FIREMEN GATHER FOR FISH FRY

Howard Culbertson was host on Monday evening to members of group 2 of auxiliary firemen of the ward, at his home on North Cedar street.

Games were the diversion of the evening. The occasion took the form of a fish fry, which was served by the committee, "Fritz" Freese and Howard Culbertson.

April 17 is the date for the next social gathering of the auxiliary.

REV. SIDNEY BLISS TO PREACH HERE SUNDAY

On Sunday, Rev. Sidney K. Bliss, of Pittsburgh, former pastor of the Central Christian church, this city, will be the preacher at the Madison Avenue Christian church.

Free Rides For Air Wacs And Men Wishing To Join Up

Army Air Force Planes Will Be Here March 27 And 28 To Take Up Candidates

Local women interested in becoming Air-Wacs and young men 17 intending to join the Army Air Forces will have another opportunity to gain some flying knowledge here at home. A group of Army Air Forces two-seater planes will be at the local airport on March 27 and 28 to give free rides to prospective cadets and WACS.

Flights will be made between 12 noon and 5 p.m. They will be cancelled, however, in the event of bad weather.

Men and women under 21, must secure parents' or guardians' consent on forms available at all U. S. Army recruiting stations, WAC recruiting offices and at high schools.

The army planes which were here in February are being ferried to this district again to emphasize the urgent need for more Air-Wacs and Cadets. They will be piloted by Civil Air Patrol personnel. Although Wacs assigned to the Army Air Forces do not fly, they perform important on-the-ground jobs at army air fields and thus release more soldiers for flying duty.

Air-Wacs and aviation cadets will be at the airport to give out information and to answer questions. Army officials pointed out that the men and women who take the plane rides are under absolutely no obligation to join the service.

Team Captains In 'Y' Campaign Have Been Named

Chairman J. Preston Flaherty Announces Names Of Those Who Will Head Teams

General Chairman J. Preston Flaherty, of the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign which gets underway March 27, announced today that the Division Chairman, Alex Samuels and Paul Gilbert, have completed the selection of their teams in a few days in preparation for the opening of the drive.

These captains are: Red Division, Jesse N. Kerr, R. J. Tully, Nick Ross, Howard Burr, Bill Andrews, A. A. Hoyland, DeLace Cole, and Henry Neill; Blue Division, Jack Boyles, George Lyons, Robert Strickler, James Hares, Eph Solomon, Andy Dodds, Jack Trent, and Joe Hartman.

Team posters will be announced as soon as their selection has been completed.

Bigger Response From Bessemer For Blood Bank Needed

An urgent plea to residents of the western part of Lawrence county was made today by Mrs. Wayne F. Davis, Blood Donor chairman for Bessemer, for 175 more volunteer donors to call 805-J-2 for an appointment on Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week when the mobile unit of the Blood Donor Service will be set up in the Bessemer high school.

Residents of the vicinity of Bessemer who find they can come to the high school to volunteer either Thursday or Friday between noon and 4 p.m. or on Saturday between 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. are urged to do so, even if they have no appointment.

The only way for our boys in service to have the life-saving blood plasma is for those of us at home to be faithful to our promise to do all we can for them, Mrs. Davis said.

JUNIOR ODD FELLOWS TO MEET WEDNESDAY

David Jameson lodge No. 9, I. O. O. F. will meet on Wednesday evening at 7:30. William T. Bates, chief advisor, will be in charge of the initiation of candidates.

The open house meeting planned in honor of a visit from the grand master has been postponed, the grand master not being able to be present at this meeting.

Initiation and election of officers for the term April-October will take place.

Will Germany Seek To Quit

Correspondent Back From Long Service In London, Discusses Nazi Attitude

PRESENTS HIS OWN OPINION ON ISSUES

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

(Just returned from two years in London)

NEW YORK, March 21.—"Will Germany quit? Will she quit before she is beaten? Will she quit when obviously beaten? Will she continue fighting even when convinced she is beaten, until utterly destroyed? Every man returning from abroad, wherever stationed and whether his knowledge of the questions is fair, informative or only academic interest is deluged today by these inquiries. Confusion of the issue is the fact that some in possession of one set of facts find no hesitancy in making answer; others, drawing contradictory conclusions from the same set of facts, make contradictory answer; still others assemble another set of facts for an answer betwixt-and-between.

Actually, no one man knows all the facts—including agents of the Allied espionage and counter-espionage systems—but there is one who knows whereof he speaks: that man is Winston Churchill. Whether uttered to temper undue optimism, or to spur warlike production, his recent solemn statement that he has no knowledge of an imminent crackup in Germany is a forthright answer to those who pretend to discern fissures in the lightly-welded structure whereon rests Nazi Germany.

No Authoritative Answer

This article is no attempt to make authoritative answer to the questions; rather, it is an outline of some facts and some grapevine rumors, quite possibly fictitious, wherefrom some answers may be squeezed. The answers may be right or wrong. No man at this moment can say. But it can be said—and at this moment—that if Germany as now constituted, under Nazi leadership, sought peace terms from the Allies, no terms whatever would be forthcoming.

During two years in London, Nazi "peace feelers" dropped up to both the writer on frequent occasion. In each case the answer came from the office of foreign affairs—straight-forward and unequivocal. In each case the answer proved truthful. The same question if put forward to foreign affairs tomorrow would bring the same truthful answer. It is.

No Negotiations With Hitler

"Peace terms or any other question will never be negotiated with any member of the Hitler gang, nor any member of the Nazi party." In London, a highly-placed source with considerable intimate information of pre-Nazi as well as present-day Germany, attempted to sum up the present and future for the Reich in these words:

"More than ever before in history, this war has demonstrated that psychology is as much an answer to military movements as are planes and tanks and guns. Remember that the Germans, under whatever regime, are a logical as well as a fatalistic people.

"Convinced by their own logic in 1918 that they couldn't win, their fatalism bowed to the inevitable. They quit, then, their armies intact, returning to their unharmed homeland fully prepared to arm, to watch and wait for another opportunity. "So, too, today. At present, the German high command does not foresee eventual defeat. But watch out when they do. Their logic and fatalism will couple up again. The army high command will dump Hitler just as remorselessly as he dumped friends no longer useful. They look for a real peace bid, regardless of where the fighting lines are.

Would Be Willing

"Once convinced they can't win, the Wehrmacht leaders will be full willing to make a negotiated peace with the claim they are no longer Nazi-allied, but just Germans. If the Allies fail for that—instead of insisting on unconditional surrender—your children and mine will be struggling into uniform in another 20 years."

That opinion is given for what it is worth—the opinion of one man, although a man equipped with a good store of information on pre-war and present-day Germany. One peace rumor in London recently apparently never reached the light of public print. True or apocryphal, it seems to illustrate the belief that it will be unconditional surrender for Germany this time, regardless of whether the Germans have some opposite number in the Allied camps. The rumor ran in this wise:

Their phlegmatic confidence in a Hitler victory weakened by the incessant Allied bombings of German industrial towns, a group of owners of German heavy industries sought favorable peace terms a few weeks ago. As an intermediary, the heavy industrialists chose a Swiss arms manufacturer in close touch with heavy industrialists in Britain. Their reputed proposals included: Tossing overboard of Hitler and replacement of the Nazi regime with a military dictatorship; withdrawal of the German army to the pre-war frontiers; control of heavy industries in France to be under joint Franco-British control; control of the Rhineland heavy industries, and the heavy industries of Poland, Czechoslovakia to be under German control.

Then, according to the rumor, came the denouement which may well shadow insistence by the Allies on German unconditional surrender. The Soviet government reportedly got hold of the under-cover negotiations, made prompt and vigorous representations to the British war office, obtained the recall of the Swiss manufacturer and the cancellation of post-war contracts given him by the British.

It was only another rumor crowding the grapevine of news in London. Nonetheless, it seemed to point to two fair conclusions:

(1) None of the Allied governments will negotiate peace with the Germans while Germany is ruled by Hitler-Himmler-Goering set-up, and (2) Unofficial peace feelers seeking peace on terms other than unconditional surrender will be quickly stifled.

Selecting Jury For Lonergan Trial

NEW YORK, March 21.—Three jurors were in the box today as the second session of the murder trial of Wayne Lonergan entered its second day, and it appeared that the remainder of the week will pass before there are any fireworks. Then a jury will be summoned to the witness stand to testify in the young RCAF airman's fight for his life as he answers the charge that he bludgeoned his beautiful mistress wife Patricia, to death in her fashionable Beekman Hill apartment.

With obvious reluctance, Assistant District Attorney Jacob Grumet, at the request of Defense Attorney Edward V. Broderick, gave the names of men and women whom he expects to testify against the pale play-boy.

WAVES Officer Heads Special Recruiting Party Here Rest Of Month

LT. (j. g.) WANDA McLAUGHLIN

Lt. (j. g.) Wanda McLaughlin, WAVES interviewing officer, arrived here Monday to interview prospective WAVES, in an intensive recruiting campaign which will be waged here during the balance of the month. Two enlisted WAVES have also been assigned here by the Pittsburgh office of naval officer procurement to assist Miss McLaughlin.

McLaughlin entered the WAVES after several years of personnel experience in the training division at Marshall Field and Co. of Chicago, and was assistant head of employment at the University of Chicago.

A graduate of the University of South Dakota, Lt. McLaughlin was in the first class at the naval training school at Mt. Holyoke College, Mass.

She will be in New Castle at the Castle hotel from Monday, March 26 to Friday, March 31. All eligible young women between the ages of 20 and 36 should call Miss McLaughlin at the Castle hotel for an appointment. It is possible to take both the WAVES aptitude and physical examinations here, she states.

Six Women And Six Men On Jury

Trial Of Janice Graham As Accessory After Fact Now In Progress At Mercer

MERCER, Pa., March 21.—(INS)—A jury of six women and six men today heard additional evidence in the state's charges that blonde Janice Graham was an accessory after the fact in the triple slayings on the Everett Wilson dairy farm last October 7.

Assistant District Attorney Alvin R. Isenberg, who has replaced District Attorney Edwin C. Moore as prosecutor, opened the trial with the assertion that Janice "willingly and voluntarily" aided William A. Morell, 20-year-old parolee convicted of manslaughter in the death of Wilson's wife, escape.

The same jury which found Morell guilty in the death of Mrs. Helen Wilson, 48, freed him of murder charges in the deaths of Mrs. Katherine Wilson, 78, the owner's mother, and Robert McKay, 70, a hired hand.

Pleads Guilty To Misuse Of Funds At Duncannon

SCRANTON, Pa., March 21.—(INS)—William Stewart Duncannon, former president of the Duncannon National bank, today awaited sentencing after pleading guilty to misapplication of more than $50,000 in funds.

John Grove Loser, Harrisburg furniture dealer, who was charged in the indictment with aiding and abetting Duncannon, pleaded innocent. Duncannon was arraigned on three indictments, yesterday in federal court in Scranton. He pleaded guilty to two indictments charging him with misapplication of funds and innocent to a third accusing him and Benjamin Stiles Duncannon of false certification of a check, abstracting of collateral and false entry in a report to the controller of currency. Benjamin Stiles Duncannon also pleaded not guilty.

The cases in which innocent pleas were entered will be tried at Harrisburg in May. Pending their outcome no sentences were imposed.

Wounded Soldiers Had Three Desires

ALLIANCE, Ohio, March 21.—(INS)—Three little things seen every day in civilian life were the main desires of wounded soldiers brought aboard hospital ships after the Pacific battle against Japan got under way, a navy nurse revealed upon returning home.

They were the fragrance of a glamorous perfume, a dish of ice cream and a pretty girl to admire, said Lieut. Beatrice Joliet, a native of Alliance.

Sometimes they wanted only a picture of "the girl" back home to admire, and all were courageous, she reported.

"Ooh! Lipstick and nail polish!" she said they'd exclaim at the sight of the first white woman they had seen in months. "They wanted to talk and show us pictures of their families and sweethearts they spoke constantly of going home. Few of the boys talked about what happened in the island battles."

Lieut. Cabas Is Ready For New Combat Action

New Castle Fighter-Pilot Is In England Awaiting Orders For New Missions

Lieutenant Victor Cabas, son of Louis J. Cabas of 412 East Long avenue is off to the wars again. The New Castle fighter-pilot is in England now awaiting orders which will send him back into the skies knocking over German planes, a job he knows something about for he has five to his credit in his previous experience.

Lt. Cabas is a veteran of the air by now with 125 missions back of him. First he was with the Canadian Air Force, then with the British RAF, and then a transfer into the American Air Forces. He fought over the English channel in the Battle of Britain, fought in Egypt and over the Italian front, and was sent back home for a rest after his 125th mission. For his exploits he was awarded the Air Medal with nine oak leaf clusters and recently he was given the Distinguished Flying Cross for gallantry in action.

His "pal" of his training days and air battles is with him, Lt. Moss K. Fletcher of Paris, Ill. The two men met in Canada back in 1941, each of them then 19. They have been together since, and since coming back to the states have been instructing in Georgia and South Carolina. Lt. Cabas was best man at the wedding of Lt. Fletcher and the two of them have been together on the ground and in the air constantly since their first met.

Lt. Cabas was home for a leave some months ago fresh from his battle experiences. Now he is back in action, anxious to add to his score of Axis planes destroyed.

Local Soldier Back From New Guinea

Sergeant Robert C. Probst, parachute rigger specialist, is on 30 days furlough, visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Probst of 323 East Water avenue.

Sergeant Probst has been in combat duty somewhere in New Guinea, later spending two months in the 42nd General Hospital, at Brisbane, Australia, and has returned to the United States for convalescence. On the completion of his furlough he will go to the hospital in San Antonio, Texas.

He promises the splendid work of the Red Cross at every location he has been. Sergeant Probst has been in the service for 28 months, and overseas since August.

Rainspout Was Issuing Smoke

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Mar. 21.—(INS)—When Mrs. Rex S. Clements, wife of the pastor of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian church, saw smoke curling from the rain spout of the rectory she hurriedly summoned the Bryn Mawr fire department.

Firemen found the basement and enclosed porch of the parsonage smoke-filled, but a search failed to reveal a single spark.

Finally Fire Marshal Harvey Benson traced the rain spout to its emptying point, 150 feet from the house. Near the opening a janitor was burning trash, and the wind was wafting the smoke from the fire backward through the rain-spout system.

TODAY'S TRAINS BRING A TASK FOR Johnny's Tomorrow

JOHNNY doesn't know it yet... his head is filled with sports and studies and a fox terrier called "Spot". But, there's a corner in his mind that wonders where a loaded freight train started, and where it goes—and why.

Men and machines have worked in the four corners of the nation to load those trains—with food and fabrics, coal and ore—and weapons. They're going to feed and free the world for youngsters like Johnny. They couldn't get along without the railroads.

Tomorrow, railroads like the Baltimore & Ohio will be in an even better position to serve Americans like Johnny. For now, at war, we're learning and planning for the future. New methods of operation are being developed to assure faster, more convenient service. Improved facilities will provide new comforts in passenger travel. When Johnny calls, the B & O will be ready and willing to serve him well.

Kahrer Drowned While Training

Part Of Details Are Revealed In Message From Adjutant General Ulio

In a message received today by Mrs. Nettie M. Gardner, of R. D. 3, mother of Pfc Lawrence H. Kahrer, it was revealed that Pfc Kahrer was drowned in a training operation off the coast of Cape Carbon, North Africa.

Adjutant General J. A. Ulio's message stated that while the war department recognizes the desire on the part of Mrs. Gardner to know more of the details, because messages are sent under battle conditions, they must be brief.

He stated that the message received from the training area said that Pfc Kahrer was drowned on March 3, when a landing craft overturned and sank during amphibious training operations off the beach of Cape Carbon. It further details become available, they will be transmitted at once, he stated.

Pigeons Apparently Solve Trap Problem

Apparently the East Washington Street pigeons have solved the trap problem because no apprehensions have been reported, hence there has been no pigeon pie dinners.

Some time ago a member of the city police department constructed several traps which were placed on East Washington Street structures. He was hopeful of trapping the pigeons.

So far none have been reported trapped.

With Easter not so far distant and persons purchasing their spring flours and the traps apparently not having produced results it may be that other artifices to curb the situation will be taken.

STORM CAUSES TWO DEATHS

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh district today was digging out of a snow storm which impeded bus, automobile and trolley traffic, and grounded planes.

The deaths of two men, who died of heart attacks while shoveling snow in front of their homes, was blamed indirectly on the storm.

The victims were Dr. D. N. Bullford, 73, and David Grimm, 69, both of the north side.

Central Italy Bomb Blasted

NAPLES, March 21.—(INS)—Twin-engine medium bombers of the Mediterranean air force, an official communique said today, blasted enemy-held shipping and communication lines in central Italy yesterday.

The operations, part of 1,100 sorties flown by the allied force, included bombing of railroad bridges at Poggibonsi and Orvieto; smashing at docks and waterfront facilities at Piombino, Porto Ercole and San Stefano, as well as the Terni railroad yards.

All targets were described as "well covered."

Meantime, fighters and fighter-bombers raided Nazi supply dumps and gun emplacements both in the Cassino and Anzio beachhead areas.

Only three allied planes were listed as missing, as against at least six German craft destroyed. About 50 enemy planes appeared over the battle areas, the communique said, adding:

"It is now known that one additional enemy aircraft was destroyed on March 19."

Austria's Emperor Joseph, in the 16th century, banned corsets from "unnatural" and all places where young females are educated." He backed up his ruling with the threat of excommunication from the church.

DISASTER DROPS IN ON JAP WARSHIP

Frantic Jap sailors stationed on the forward part of this warship scurry for cover as a U. S. Mitchell sends a bomb (circle) speeding toward its deck. The ship was hit, set on fire and sunk in the Bismarck Sea, between the Admiralty Islands and the tip of New Ireland. Fifth Air Force photo.

Postwar Merger In State Plan Of Gov. Martin

HARRISBURG, March 21.—(INS)—The postwar merger of three state departments in the interests of economy and efficiency was proposed today by Gov. Edward Martin.

"If the war was over," he told his news conference, "I would like to combine several departments, such as welfare, public assistance and health, with a specialist on welfare, a specialist on relief and a specialist on health operating under an executive."

"This would give us more efficient government in Pennsylvania," the chief executive asserted.

W. C. T. U. AND L. T. L.

Francis Willard W. C. T. U. Francis Willard W. C. T. U. met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. C. N. Moore, of 203 Park avenue. Devotionals were in charge of Mrs. J. E. Somers, whose subject was "The Lenten Season." "America" was sung by the choir. Mrs. Robert McConaghy had charge of the program. "Interracial Work" was the topic.

Scripture readings and clippings of current events were discussed by members of the circle. Mrs. Moore gave highlights on the meeting she attended at the senior high school on brotherhood. Mrs. Raymond Williams, W. W. C. A. branch secretary of the Elm street center, gave an interesting account of the daily routine of the branch. She told interesting items concerning the twenty-fifth anniversary to be celebrated soon.

Misses Christine and Jean Butler told of their routine work at the Neighborhood House. Misses Gloria Logothitis, Katie Chilo, Dorothy Sentgeorge and Dorothy Abbot, of the Neighborhood House, entertained with the following songs, "On, Fight the Good Fight Like a Soldier," "Alcohol is Bad For Me," "Whoever Heard of a Poor Old Horse?" and "This Little Light of Mine."

Mrs. Preston brought greetings from two old friends, Mrs. McAnlis, of California, and Mrs. Rowland. Refreshments, in keeping with St. Patrick's Day, were served with Mrs. M. R. Newbury and Mrs. M. D. Allen, pouring Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Etta Mathews, Mrs. H. B. Williams, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Somers, Mrs. Frank Cypher and Mrs. Mont Alley were aides.

Mrs. Frank Hanna, of 305 Northview avenue, will entertain at the next meeting. Mrs. Howard Magill will be in charge of devotionals.

Mrs. R. N. McBurney, leader of Youth's Temperance Council, will have charge of the program.

East Brook W. C. T. U. "The Place of Alcohol Education in the Program of Today" was the general subject for East Brook W. C. T. U., which met recently at the home of Mrs. George Patterson, with Mrs. Mae McConaghy as leader.

Mrs. Scott Kirk conducted the devotional service.

Mrs. J. A. Young read an article on "Week Day Religious Instruction," Mrs. W. R. Walton's discussion dealt with "Co-operation Among All Temperance and Christian Organizations." Mrs. John Martin told of the results of a temperance research at a prominent college. Mrs. Kirk concluded the program with the poem, "Never Mind."

Mrs. Morrow told of plans for the county institute in April.

SEE RESULT OF WORK PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—Employees of the H. J. Heinz Company saw their direct contribution to the war effort when an army air force troop carrying glider, whose wings are manufactured at the Heinz plant, was exhibited on the grounds. The glider, constructed at the G. and H. Aircraft Company at Willow Grove, Pa., has been used extensively in mally war theaters. Attached to a transport plane by a tow line, it can carry 15 fully equipped men, or six men and a jeep, and can land on almost any terrain.

Navy Men Can Get Discharge Buttons

Lapel Buttons Are Now Available At Pittsburgh Office, Godfrey Announces

Honorable service lapel buttons for discharged Navy personnel are now available at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Pittsburgh, Altoona, Erie, and Greensburg. Petty Officer 1-C, H. L. Godfrey, local recruiter announces.

The buttons will be given to all men and women officers and enlisted personnel separated under honorable conditions from active duty in the Navy since September 9, 1939, who have not previously received them. Enlisted personnel having Certificates of Discharge with character ratings of "good" or "indifferent" are entitled to them.

Applicants for the insignia must present their discharge papers in the case of enlisted personnel or, if officers, the original and one certified copy of orders placing them on an inactive status. There is no charge for the buttons.

Hope To Speed Up Tax Room Project

Property Director Joseph D. Alexander today pitched into the proposal that the delinquent tax office, city hall, be transferred from the third to the first floor room of the city structure formerly occupied by the Army and Navy store. It is likely that priorities to procure materials for remodeling will be required.

In connection with the proposed project it is believed that it will be speeded as fast as possible because of the numerous persons, some of them aged, who are required to climb three flights of stairway to pay taxes. The same situation exists relative to the city health bureau. Three thousand persons climbed to that bureau to take health tests in one year.

President Has Slight Head Cold

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(INS)—President Roosevelt was confined to his private quarters in the White House today suffering from a slight head cold. He cancelled all appointments including his Tuesday afternoon news conference.

Mr. Roosevelt remained in his quarters for the second consecutive day at the advice of his personal physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said that the president would devote his day to a considerable amount of paper work, probably including the new manpower order which is expected soon to be issued in an effort to speed up the draft for the armed services.

Submarines, according to navy custom, never cross the equator. They always dive "under" it.

BREAKS ARMY RECORD

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(INS)—Although shattering records in compliance for First Lieut. Kenneth O. Hankins of Neptune, N. J., army marksmen are a bit awed at his recent record in the Camp Kohler rifle range. Hankins scored 197 out of a possible 200 to shatter the previous record of 194. He holds many civilian shoot records.

What's the secret of such amazing relief for so many? Simple this! KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can "get at" constipation due to lack of certain "cellulose" elements in the diet—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural elimination! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't work by "sweeping out!" It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!

If your constipation is this kind, eat ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't praise its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Cancel 15-Day Sick Leave For State Department

HARRISBURG, March 21.—(INS)—The cancellation of 15 days annual sick leave for "gold-bricking" state employees in all departments, board and commissions was disclosed today by Gov. Edward Martin.

He said administration officials had decided "to make each case stand on its merit" instead of permitting employees to be absent from their duties without inquiry.

"This was done to break up a bad gold-bricking practice," Governor Martin said. "As far as illness is concerned, employees need not worry if they are ill."

He explained that employees really ill would not lose any salary because officials would approve the time off without question.

State workers now receive 15 days sick leave in addition to 15 days annual vacation.

GOLFER TAKES THE AIR

SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—A set of golf clubs for an airplane seemed a good trade to George Michael Strub, Jr., of Jamaica, New York City, N. Y. One of the ten best amateur golf champions in the United States in 1940, Cadet Strubler deserted the links to enter pre-flight school at the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center.

Battle On Wednesday; Foes Evenly Matched

Fitz Counts Noses, 4 Players Missing

WILMINGTON, Del., March 21.—(INS)—Only four Philadelphia Phillies were missing today as Manager Freddie Fitzsimmons looked over a squad of 34 players reporting for spring training at Wilmington, Del. The snowbound Phils worked out yesterday in the Delaware state armory.

Fitzsimmons said he was satisfied with the physical condition of the Blue Jays, except for slugging outfielder Coaker Triplett who is convalescing from the flu.

Kentucky, Aggies Top Utah, Canisius

NEW YORK, March 21.—(INS)—The seventh annual invitation college basketball tournament moved into the semi-finals today with Kentucky, Aggies and Canisius.

The teams will meet tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden where more than 16,000 fans last night screamed their delight at the fast contests provided by the University of Utah, which lost to Kentucky 46-38, and by Canisius of Buffalo, defeated by the Aggies 43-29.

Let by Bob Foghtills, Kurland and F. B. Burdette, the Oklahoma Aggies went ahead early and established their superiority before the half closed. Burdette tossed 20 points.

Kentucky's great quint met a little stiffer competition but managed to control the situation throughout.

Both aggregations boast of genuine stars. In Francis Pitzer, the Bronzers can lay claim to the best independent player here. He does everything on a basketball floor but keep time. "Gabby" Kendra and Henry Koszela, seasoned hands, are standouts too.

Santangelo Main Guy. Shenango Pottery's main guy thus far has been lean Guido Santangelo, a ball hawk and dangerous shooter. He started Saturday's engagement and sparked the Pottery, getting 10 points in the opening half. Davis, center, has been ill and consequently handicapped. He, however, played an excellent all-around game Saturday. Hughes has been a go-to-it in both frays.

Needless to mention, both clubs will throw the book at each other in hopes of grabbing the brass ring.

The Epworths seek revenge when they line up against the Industrial Aces at 7:30. The Eps moved ahead by 15 points in the first half and saw their lead whittled in a wild fourth period. The Stars finally won 38-37 in a sizzler.

Workers who built Stewart Field, Army air field at West Point N. Y., contributed $3,816.67 to the field's athletic and recreation fund.

Fans Vote Classic Best In Years; Starting Time 8:30 O'Clock

Even-Stephen with a victory apiece, Shenango Pottery and Johnson Bronze eagerly await Wednesday night's Industrial league championship game on Ben Franklin junior high floor. The rivals tear loose at 8:30 o'clock, following a preliminary involving the Epworths, Church loop champs, and the Industrial All-Stars.

The first two clashes produced the kind of action that kept the overflow galleries standing and cheering until the final whistle. Fans have voted the series the most exciting witnessed here in many dribbling campaigns.

Interest Unprecedented

Interest has reached such heights that officials are at a loss trying to figure a way to accommodate the crowd expected at the title-teller. Demands for tickets are unprecedented.

While the sideliners argue about this and that, the two teams are mapping out strategic moves which they hope will result in victory.

On paper, the quint's appear evenly matched and scores of the first two games bear out this contention. The JB snared the opener, 28-25, in one of those frays in which the score might have changed hands to the final whistle. Saturday's game was identical, the difference being that the Pottery won 26-27.

War Ends His Ski Career

THIS IS A TALE of a war veteran. Bobby Wetzel was a ski jumper before the war. He was a good one and won the California Class C championship as shown in picture at left. Bobby was called into the service. In action in Italy he was blinded. Today he is back at home in McCloud, Cal., but he'll never ski jump again. He still finds interest in polishing his skis. Ne-Ca-Hi Track Card Announced

'Canes Will Participate In Seven Meets; Interclass Event First, April 20 And 21

Ignoring the cascade of snow on the first day of spring, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner yesterday announced that New Castle high's track team will participate in seven events.

The "Cane" season opens with the annual inter-class meet on April 20 and 21 and ends with the WPIAL championship classic on May 20.

Coach William "Bill" Klee has been sending the gravel grinders through indoor workouts for the past several weeks and discloses that the material is on the bright side.

In the 100 and 220-yard field, Robert Post, James Falk and "Buzz" Panella are top prospects. Klee points out.

James Falk once again heads the 440-yard brigade. Lester Mitchell, Paul Green and Steve Waslewski run as the top half and mile candidates.

Nick Aquillo and Mitchell appear as standouts in the high hurdles while James Campbell and James Garberry lead the field in the low rails.

Two and possibly three meets will be staged at the stadium, in addition to the inter-class events. Butler and Warren, O., have been booked with Meadville high on the pending list.

The schedule follows:
April 20 and 21—Inter-class meet.
April 25—Dual meet with East Palestine.
April 29—WPIAL relays at Ambridge.
May 2—Dual meet with Butler here.
May 8—Dual meet with Meadville here (pending).
May 12—Dual meet with Warren, O. here.
May 20—WPIAL championships (place of meet not yet known).

Belle Faces Berger Wednesday Night

Youngstown Seeks 37th Consecutive Victory Against Veteran Canadian

CLEVELAND, March 21.—(INS)—A hammer-fisted newcomer, Tommy Belle of Youngstown, was ready today to make his debut as a fight headliner against veteran Maxie Berger tomorrow night in the Cleveland arena.

Belle has come out of obscurity with a rush and his meeting with Berger will provide adequate test as to whether he deserves respectful recognition as a welterweight contender and box office magnet. Thus far as a busy preliminary scrapper, he has pounded out 36 straight victories since turning pro, 25 of them knockouts.

Belle has been established as a 7-5 favorite over the Montreal scrapper in the 10-round bout.

Fitz Fitzpatrick, Cleveland midweight, will meet Phil Muscato of Buffalo in the semi-final.

Firearms School Resumes Tonight

Sportsmen's Revolver club tonight resumes its basic firearms school in the Cathedral. The session starts at 7:30. Secretary Charles Schweinsberg announced.

At 8:30 the club will hold its regular meeting and shoot. Plans will be discussed for the summer season.

A new firearms class is being organized and a few openings still exist. Anyone desiring to enroll may do so by getting in touch with Earl Dufford, school adjutant.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Beau Jack has attracted approximately 950,000 into Madison Square Garden and will pass the million-dollar mark with plenty to spare when he and Juan Zurita tangle March 31.

The answer to it all is that, while Beau Jack is far from the best lightweight the world has seen, he is an honest workman and has never failed to give the fans a run for their money in action, crude as he may be. . . .

Another virtual sellout at the garden is assured for Thursday night when most of New Jersey will come across the Hudson to watch Tippy Larkin and Allie Stolz, the lightweight rivals, belt each other around . . . I hold the record on Larkin . . . I've seen him fight three and watched him get stiffened in each start.

Everybody along the fight beat has figured out now that it takes a good straight right hand to beat Beau Jack, such as Bob Montgomery throws. . . . It's a cinch you can't do it with a left hook. . . . At least Bummy Davis couldn't. . . . This young man's deportment has improved since the days of his impetuous pugilistic youth, but not his boxing. . . . He doesn't try to massacre the referee anymore, but hasn't learned much about avoiding massaging himself. . . . Only Fritz Zivic gave him a worse beating than he took from Beau Jack.

The first baseball prediction of the year comes from Chicago, where one of the local experts picks the Cubs and White Sox to play the next world series. . . . That's as good a guess as any. . . . It begins to look more and more like the Yanks will be unable to make it in the American League. . . . They have lost their key men and the replacements are none too hot.

Sports Ramblings

Notes off the cuff:—

Pickups along the Indus series sidelines:—Most of the talk among the bleacherites concerns Francis Pitzer, Bronze all-around ace, and Guido Santangelo, lean sharpshooter for the Pottery. Pitzer, the series' hero so far, is proving something a lot of cage fans asserted right along—that he's the top independent performer in the county. . . . Santangelo's play cause a lot of wiser heads to ask: "Why have the Pottery used him occasionally instead of starting him?" His first half shots Saturday wrecked the JB cause. . . .

Parties responsible for naming the Red Cross as the beneficiary (Presidents James Smith, Jr., of Pottery, and Preston Flaherty, JB) are receiving unlimited and richly deserved praise. The series should enrich the Red Cross to the extent of $850 to $1,000. . . . Winner of the crown will meet the Epworths, Church loop king, for the city diadem. The Indus clubs have accepted the Eps' challenge. The classic will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court. . . .

Quite a few fans, this scribe included, commented about the poor lighting system at Franklin gym as well as the soiled-looking condition of the floor. Austie Cowmeadow, Franklin coach, explained: "The war-time rubber in gym shoes leaves those marks. It's impossible to remove them. Blame that on the war. As for the lights, the gym is seldom used at nights, and for this reason no effort has been made to install a brighter system." . . . The crowds further prove that New Castle needs a spacious and modern auditorium. Inability to accommodate the patrons is costing the Red Cross a nice chunk. . . .

This and that:—Tech. Sgt. Ralph "Ruffles" Johns, now at Deshon hospital, has sent me a copy of the song he wrote recently. The tune, "My Rock-A-Bye Moon," pleased a group of us tremendously. A downtown musician said: "It has lots of melody." Johns states that Kate Smith may sing the song within the next two weeks. . . . Pvt. Len Gilbert, 30-pounds lighter than when he entered the Army, has returned to Camp Lee after spending the week-end with his wife and children. . . .

Manager Lou Boudreau, of the Indians, names the White Sox as the team to beat in the American loop. . . . In a dozen bouts in Madison Square Garden, Beau Jack has grossed $947,477, an average of $78,956. . . . Ohio State and Illinois will meet at Cleveland stadium come next grid season. . . . Reports that Jack Manders, Chicago Bear star fullback, is dead are erroneous. The pro star is in Chicago, safe and sound. The rumor reportedly started overseas, in Australia. . . .

Engineers Hear Ceramics Program Monday Evening

Local Men Discuss Different Phases Of Industry In Local Plants

Members of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society enjoyed a fine program at their dinner meeting in The Castleton Monday evening, when the subject of "Ceramics" was discussed by representatives of three local industries engaged in the manufacture of these products.

One of the features was the rendition of several diat numbers by Robert A. Duff and Fred Walters, with Jean Chapman Reagle accompanying at the piano.

At a business session presided over by President Harry L. McFeaters, plans for the program for the balance of the year were outlined. Representatives of local industry will have charge. The next program will be on April 17, in charge of Frank Byers of the Falk Corporation, and a representative of that company will discuss "Gears and their relation to the war effort."

The date for the annual summer picnic was set as of August 26, and will be held at the American Beach. Speakers included M. R. Hornung, Ralph Gibson and John Boyles of the Shenango Pottery and Harry McCollum of the New Castle Refractories company. Pictures were shown depicting the manufacturing process of chinaware at the Shenango Pottery, and the making of glass bricks, the latter film being furnished by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co.

James Bean was named chairman of a library committee. Ed Davidson, chairmen of an engineers' club. Robert Fleming vocational guidance, and Joe Fuchs, Deshon hospital entertainment.

Great Britain made a survey of the historic monuments in the British Isles and found 3600; 2205 of these are in England, 600 in Wales, and 808 in Scotland.

Governor Issues Appeal For Paper Salvage Efforts

HARRISBURG, March 21—(INS)—A general lack of cooperation in Pennsylvania's waste paper collection campaigns prompted Gov. Edward Martin today to issue an appeal for redoubled salvage efforts because the paper shortage "threatens to impede the war effort."

The problem of paper salvage is of the greatest urgency and demands the cooperation of every man, woman and child in every community, he declared.

"Lack of paperboard containers threatens the continued shipment of war supplies to the battle fronts," the governor asserted. "This situation can and must be remedied. It is my earnest hope that everyone who has been aiding in this work will redouble his or her efforts and that many more will join this work."

"Greater participation in waste paper salvage was necessary," the governor said, to make containers available for overseas shipments, particularly blood plasma bottles.

Col. C. J. Gentzkow Speaks Wednesday

Colonel C. J. Gentzkow, of the U. S. Army Medical Corps, and commanding officer of the Deshon General hospital, will speak Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A., the event being sponsored by the community and welfare department of the Woman's club.

Colonel Gentzkow will speak on "How We Should Treat the Boys When They Come Home".

Attending this session as guests will be friends of the Woman's club members, the Red Cross Nurses Aides of the Jameson Memorial hospital and New Castle hospital, and according to plans made, quite a few will attend.

Prior to the address given by Colonel Gentzkow, Mrs. William J. Caldwell will favor the assembly with a short musical program.

Col. Gentzkow is to address the Kiwanis club at noon on the same day.

Mercer County Men Injured

OIL CITY, March 21—Multiple injuries were sustained by two Mercer county men when their automobile went out of control and crashed into a telephone pole and a house.

Frank Swartz, 36 New Wilmington, route 2, suffered injuries to the knee and chest and a possible fracture of the shoulder.

Thomas White, 43, of 743 Sherman avenue, Sharon, sustained a three-inch gash over his left eye, lacerations to the left hand and right eyelid.

The accident occurred on East Second street. The car skidded on the slippery pavement, sideswiped a telephone pole and then went through a hedge to strike a porch, which was ripped off.

WOLVES CLUB

A representative of the Bell Telephone company will speak at the meeting of the Wolves club dinner-meeting this evening at 6:30 o'clock at The Castleton.

James Lombardo chairman of the program committee announces that an interesting program will be conducted.

Charlie Chaplin Will Go On Trial

LOS ANGELES, March 21—(INS)—Charlie Chaplin and his defense counsel stood ready to go to trial today in the noted comedian's showdown courtroom fight against the government's charge that he transported Joan Barry to New York "to live with him as his mistress."

Jerry Giesler, the multi-millionaire British actor's chief attorney, indicated he would stand by his previous declaration that he planned no last-minute delay to the start of Chaplin's trial before Federal Judge J. F. T. O'Connor on a Mann act "white slave" indictment.

"We are ready to shoot," Giesler told International News Service as Francis Cross, court clerk, prepared to call the case.

REPORT 115 FATALITIES HARRISBURG, March 21—(INS)—The department of labor and industry revealed today that 115 workers were killed and 10,289 others were injured in Pennsylvania industrial accidents during January.

The iron and steel industries accounted for a large share of the fatalities and injuries.
